Skating from Home: Through May 1st

As of March 25th, ice rinks are shut down through May 1st by order of the governor. So that means that we won't get to skate again until at least May or until the governor reopens bars/restaurants/places of amusement(ice arenas). And it might be longer, as the rinks have melted the ice, and won't start freezing again until after May 1st.

To help keep my skaters interested in skating, and in shape to step back on the ice some day, I have created a Google Classroom (Skating from Home). Through the classroom I send out a daily assignment of something skating related to do as well as a video of a famous skater to inspire everyone. If you haven't already signed up, please do!

The uncertainty of when we might get to skate again, coupled with all the opportunities the skaters have had to miss as of late, has really upset me because I know how much they look forward to this time of year and I can't do anything to fix it. I hope that my classroom might help your skaters stay connected to skating, but if you feel like they might need something more please let me know. I am more than happy to connect with them in a way that helps them individually during this time!

Summer Skating?

Normally, I would have already sent out summer information, but with skating being cancelled for another month, and all the uncertainty surrounding the future, I have no idea what this summer will be like. It could be like all other summers, or we could still be quarantined, and skating could be cancelled. I don't think I will be able to send out information until the end of April/beginning of May. This may change depending on what the governor does with ice arenas.
